PT gained about 1/2 pound in the past month; he weighs 19.9 pounds today. We repeated the abdominal radiographs did not show any significant changes to the bladder stones. We submitted samples of the urine for analysis; preliminary results were negative for crystals and blood. We should have the results this weekend.

Continue with the current Royal Canin diet.

We will need to consider work-up (starting with abdominal ultrasound and contrast imaging) and possible surgery.

Let us know if any problems or concerns.

Unless problems, we will see PT on Sunday for the overnight stay.
